Graphic Artist Dennis Loren

Dennis Loren was raised in the Detroit area. After graduating from Edsel Ford High School in 1964, while working full time, he attended evening art classes at the Center For Creative Studies. After his discharge from military service, he decided to stay in the San Francisco Bay area, because of the vibrant art and music scene.

During his career, he has created album covers, posters, and print ads for such famous musical performers as Brian Wilson, Frank Zappa, The Blues Project, Barry White, Muddy Waters, Jimi Hendrix, Big Brother & The Holding Company, Paul McCartney, Jefferson Starship, Joan Baez, The Velvet Underground and many, many others.

Dennis worked at the Detroit Sun with Gary Grimshaw and John Sinclair (American poet, writer, and political activist, manager for the Detroit rock band MC5) and later was art director of Cream Magazine.

Some of his concert poster work appears in "The Art Of Modern Rock" by Paul Grushkin and Dennis King (Chronicle Books). He and his art also appear in "American Artifact – The Rise Of American Rock Posters," a documentary film about rock posters and artists. The film was written and directed by Merle Becker of Freak Films, Inc.

In 2013, Metro Books published "Classic Rock Posters", which Dennis authored and edited with Mick Farren. 500 posters are featured from the 1950's to the present.

Dennis has relocated back to the Detroit area and we are lucky to have him again as a featured presenter.
