CLUB NEWS

MARCH Program

critique: Jean-Paul Aboudib

We are pleased to announce that recognized painter Jean-Paul Aboudib, who works and exhibits in southeast Michigan, will be our facilitator for the upcoming art club critique session. Jean-Paul's artwork is a compelling exploration of the intersection between nature and urban land- scapes, often portraying a sense of nostalgia and longing for harmony. With his experience and profound artistic insight, Jean-Paul is set to offer invaluable guidance and constructive feedback to our members. Join us as we welcome Jean-Paul for what promises to be a stimulating and enlightening session that will undoubtedly inspire us all in our artistic pursuits. Members are welcome to bring one or two pieces to the meeting to be critiqued.

February Member Spotlight Recap

We were pleased to have Lori Zoumbaris introduce her sister, Susan Hunt, as the member spotlighted at our February meeting. Susan is a native of Ann Arbor who began her photographic journey when she purchased her first camera as a teenager. Fast forward to 1990, when she founded Freeze Frame Photography, a traditional photography business specializing in weddings and portraits. Susan has a passion for nature photography and has done exploration into the art of hand-coloring black and white photos, and she uses a unique technique with colored pencils and watercolor paints. Susan has also been having fun exploring an app through which she can create the cartoon effects in her photography.

MOVIE NIGHT

Although the DIA representative was ill and could not be with us as planned, we had a movie night! We learned about landscape painter Fredric Church, the Hudson River School and his beautiful architectural creation, Olana, in New York. We had time for a second movie about the famous work of Lorenzo Bernini, the Italian sculptor. It showed how he was a master of skin and textures and was a prodigy from age eight!
